

A Guide for Getting Started

Edmodo and Essential of Effective Instruction

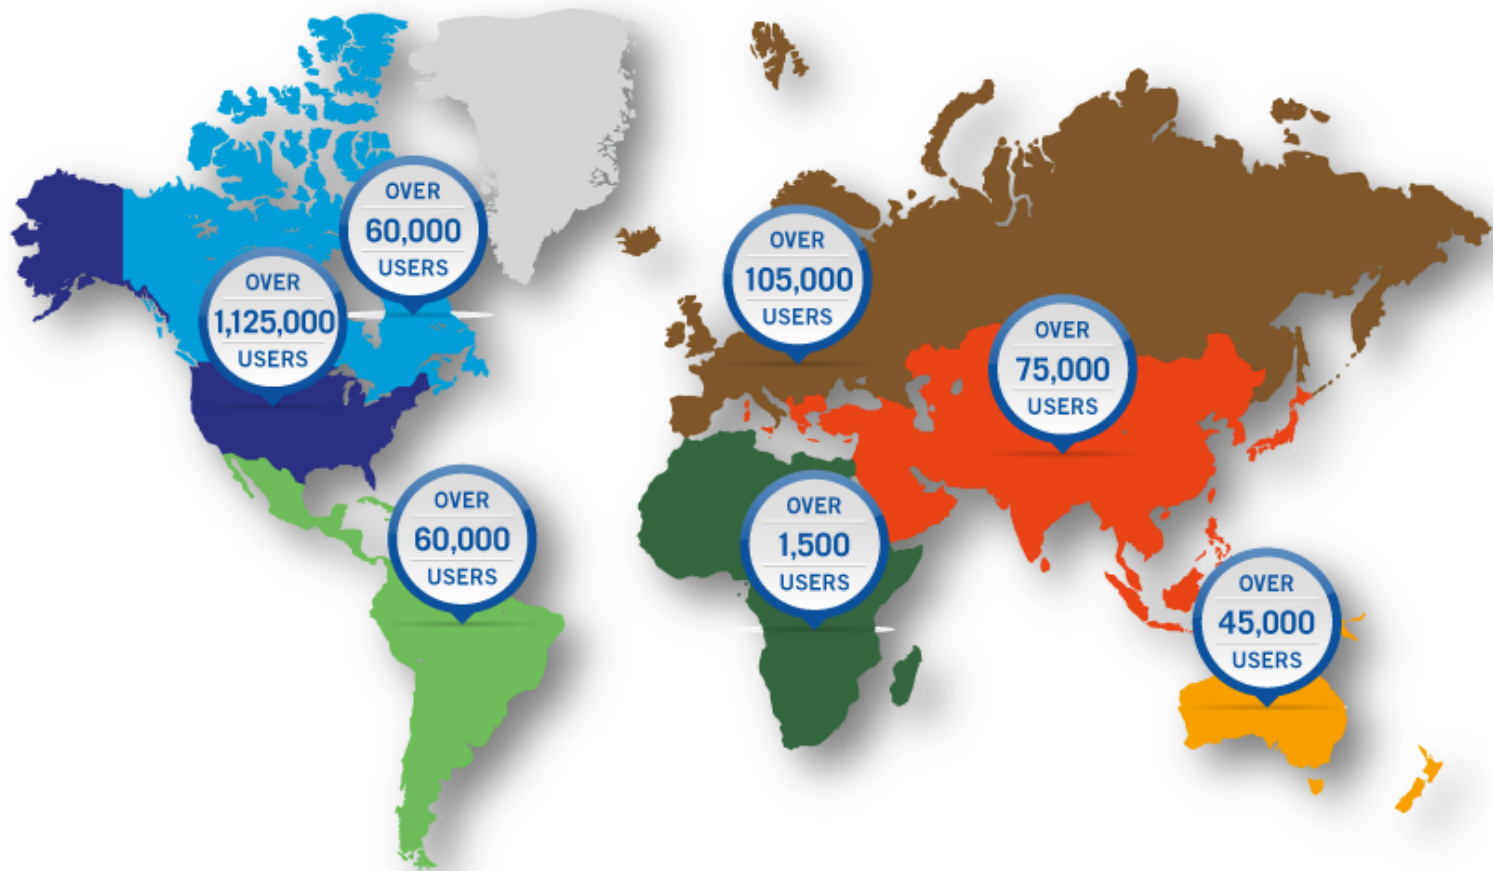

- Edmodo is a platform to help students know what they will be learning today. Q1
- It is easy way to connect today's lesson with past and future learning. Q4
- It is a great way to check for understanding. Q5

What is Edmodo?

- ▶ Free social learning network for teachers, students, schools and districts
- ▶ Provides an engaging platform for blended learning and safe, productive social networking
- ▶ Safe and easy way to:
 - Connect
 - Exchange ideas
 - Share content
 - Access homework, grades and school notices.

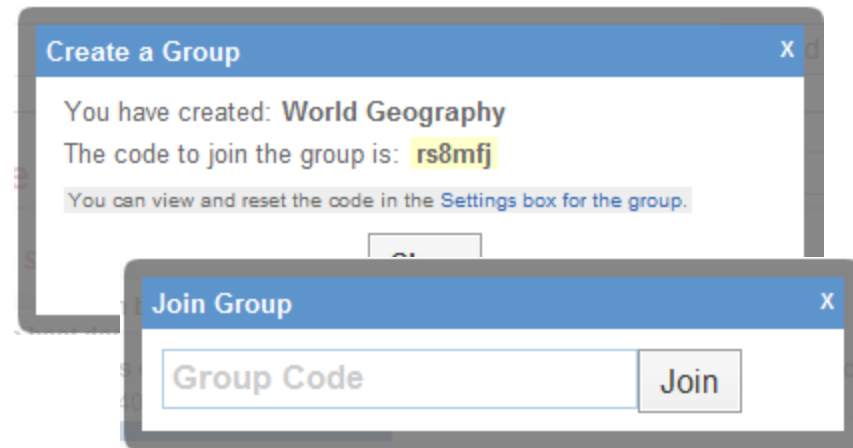

Founded in late 2008, Edmodo is now used by millions around the globe. Our rapid growth is due to grassroots adoption - teachers sharing tools that work!

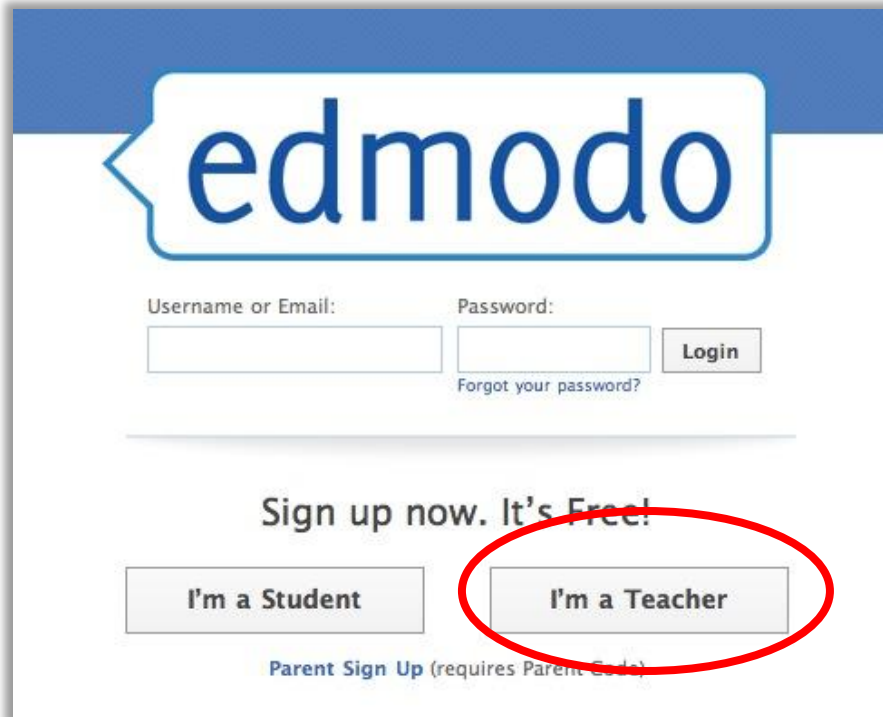

Security

- ▶ Closed environment
- ▶ No private information required from students
- ▶ Students join classes by the invitation of their teacher only
- ▶ Students cannot directly message one another
- ▶ All communications are archived
- ▶ Teacher has full management control
- ▶ Sub domains allow district administrators greater control

The screenshot shows the edmodo Teacher Landing Page. At the top, there's a navigation bar with 'edmodo', 'Calendar', 'Grades', 'Library', and user options 'Mr. Roosevelt' and 'Settings'. Below the navigation bar, on the left, is a sidebar with a user profile picture and a list of groups: 'Everything', 'Direct', 'Connections', 'Groups' (with 'Join or Create' link), and 'Communities' (with 'Browse' link). The 'Groups' section lists 'Astronomy Club', 'Earth Science', 'Homeroom: Daily Blog', 'Language Arts', 'Math', and 'Social Studies' (highlighted in yellow). Below the groups, there are links for 'Show Fewer Groups', 'My High School School', 'My District District', and 'Support Community'. The main content area features a 'Social Studies' group header. Below the header, there's a post by 'ThomJefferson I. to Social Studies' dated 'Mar 25, 2011'. The post content includes a message to students about rewriting the Declaration of Independence, a video player titled 'Understanding the Declaration of Independence' from youtube.com, and a comment from 'Me' (the teacher) thanking Mr. Jefferson and providing a quote about breaking away from government.

Create an Assignment

The screenshot shows the 'Create an Assignment' form in Edmodo. At the top, there are tabs for 'Note', 'Alert', 'Assignment' (which is selected), and 'Poll'. Below the tabs, there is a 'Hide' button. The form contains several input fields: 'assignment title', 'describe the assignment...', and 'due date' (with a calendar icon). There is also an 'Attach:' section with options for 'File', 'Link', and 'Library'. At the bottom, there is a 'Send' button and a 'Language Arts' tag with an 'x' to remove it. A blue callout bubble points to the 'Load Assignment' button, which is located next to the 'assignment title' field.

View and grade assignments as students turn them in

The screenshot shows a student's assignment submission in Edmodo. At the top, there is a profile picture of a man and the text 'Me to Language Arts'. Below this, the assignment title is 'Tuck Everlasting: Chapter 10 Homework'. There is a 'Turned in (2)' button and a 'DUE: Mar 29, 2011' label. The assignment description reads: 'Create a card and write a letter to Winnie and give advice on how to handle the problem she is facing in the story of whether she should tell about the spring or keep it a secret. Provide at least three facts to defend your advice, and use proper Friendly Letter guidelines.' At the bottom, there is a date 'Mar 24, 2011' and a row of buttons: 'Reply', 'Public', 'Tag', and 'More'.

Comments
 Me - Jamie:
Great job on letter structure and complete sentences. I think you need to reread the directions though -- the directions asked you to decide if Winnie should tell family about the spring, not if she should drink from the spring.
you turned it in early - I'll give you another shot!

Parent Account

All of the child's teachers are listed on the right panel

The screenshot shows the Edmodo Parent Account interface. At the top is a blue navigation bar with the 'edmodo' logo, 'Calendar', 'Grades', the user name 'Eileen Boyle', 'Settings', 'Log out', and a search bar. On the left side, there is a profile section for a parent with a cartoon avatar, tabs for 'Everything' (selected) and 'Direct', and a 'Students' list with an 'Add' button and one student named 'Liam'. The main content area is titled 'Everything' and shows a message from 'Me to Liam B., Mr. Roosevelt' dated 'Apr 6, 2011'. The message text is: 'Thanks for meeting with us yesterday Mr. Roosevelt. Between Liam's tutor and all of the extra support you are providing, I am certain he'll be able to make up all of the work he missed while he was ill. I have the iphone app downloaded on my phone – so feel free to reach out whenever!'. On the right side, there is a 'Spotlight' section with a message 'It's cool, nothing new.' and a 'Teachers' section listing 'Mr. Theodore Roosevelt' with the subject 'Computer Technology' and a 'Show All' button. Three blue callout boxes provide additional information: one points to the 'Add' button in the Students list, another points to the Teachers list, and a third points to the message content.

Mr. Bowar to Language Arts

Hi, everyone! Does anyone have tips for using Accelerated Reader and keeping students engaged during independent reading time?

Mobile Access

- ▶ Get updates and notifications on the go with our mobile app available for:
 - iPhone
 - iPod
 - Android
- ▶ Access Edmodo on any mobile browser at m.edmodo.com

Best Practices for Safe Networking

- ▶ After all students join your group, lock the group code to prevent others from joining
- ▶ Monitor group membership to ensure only students in your group have joined
- ▶ Educate students on proper online etiquette
 - Teacher can immediately edit or delete any posts by group members
- ▶ Use “Read-Only” status to curb inappropriate behavior
 - Students may still submit assignments and post messages to teacher; but cannot send messages to entire group

First Steps for Getting Started

- 1 Create your account and invite students.
- 2 Read blog.edmodo.com for more ways to use Edmodo in the classroom.
